

Art Education Volunteer, Job, and Internship Opportunities (updated 1/20)

The Art Education Program faculty members strongly encourage art education majors to seek internship, paid, and volunteer opportunities to work with children and art. These experiences help you become comfortable working with groups of children of various ages, practice planning and instruction, and connect you with the wider art education community. These opportunities may be available for internship credit through the Art Department. Here are just a few options in the Madison area for consideration:

Madison Children's Museum Internships (summer and school year options)

Madison Museum of Contemporary Art: internships and paid positions

Monroe Street Art Center (paid or volunteer)

PEOPLE Program (paid)

Madison School and Community Recreation (paid)

UW-Madison Wheelhouse Studios (paid instructors or studio assistants)

Assistant Teachers at the UW Preschool Lab (paid)

Prairie Music and Arts in Sun Prairie (paid.)

Art Lit Lab (volunteer)

The Bubbler makerspace in the Madison Central Library (volunteer)

Helen Burish Fellowship: Museum Internship: A fantastic, paid teaching internship at the Chazen Art Museum.

Opportunities OUTSIDE the Madison Area:

If you are interested in a unique, fantastic summer internship, check out the Kohler Art Museum in Sheboygan (unpaid).

If you'd like to work with/teach art to people with disabilities, consider interning at Studio 84 in Whitewater, WI.
